Overview

AppointLink is proud to introduce our newest Law School product “Academic Access Manager.” This application was built to streamline and simplify user management in complex environments. Users within the Law School are ever changing making proven processes and policies that much more important. AppointLink’s Academic Access Manager makes user and group management possible.

How it works

Academic Access Manager provides functions that monitor your Authoritative Source (For Example PeopleSoft, Banner, Datatel, etc.) to identify new or changed user or group types. User type examples would include: Student, Faculty, Staff, and Groups. The “Student Group Feature” automates the creation and maintenance of groups of students based on the user’s role in the SIS course enrollment. The system will automatically create, update, move, and, if you choose, delete objects stored in an eDir/LDAP or AD directory based on upstream role changes and your specific policies.

Advanced Configuration

The system manages groups by taking data fields from the Authoritative Source and then establishes membership in groups based on configured rules. Membership can be based on simple one to one mappings from attributes to group names or the system can be configured for more advanced mapping rules that allow AND, OR, and NOT conditions. The system can also roll up disconnected subsets into a single group easy management.

Provisioning

Group functionality includes the necessary linkage to automatically provision groups from the database to your Identity Management vault. Additional components allow downstream provisioning into additional eDir vaults and Active Directory. This system can be exposed to other client applications allowing precise timing of group creation and expiration.

Reporting

Academic Access Manager would not be complete without reporting features. The system includes audit and compliance type reporting to allow administrators the ability to track various transactions.
